

Co-funded by the European Union

EMOTIONS MAPPING

2020-1-RO01-KA229-080232_4.

CULTURAL TOLERANCE
AND
SOCIAL WELL-BEING AT SCHOOL

TOPICS TO BE COVERED

-What's well-being?

-What's the importance of well-being at school

-What happens if there is no well-being at school

WELL BEING

What is well-being?

Well-being is a positive result that is meaningful for people and society, because it tells us that people notice that their lives are going well.

Good living conditions (e.g., housing, employment) are fundamental to well-being. Tracking these conditions is important for public policy.

Well-being generally includes global judgments of life satisfaction and feelings ranging from depression to joy.

Wellbeing is not just the nonexist of unhappiness or illness. It's a complex combination of a person's physical, mental, emotional and social health factors.

Wellbeing is strongly linked to happiness and life satisfaction. In short, wellbeing could be stated as how you feel about yourself and your life.

WHAT IS THE IMPORTANCE OF WELL-BEING AT SCHOOL?

- It has a positive and direct effect on learning.
- It provides mental and physical resilience for the student to cope with difficulties.
- It helps to increase performance.
- It has a stress-reducing effect and enables the control mechanism to work better in managing the existing stress.

What happens if there is no well-being at school?

- Students have difficulty in understanding themselves and their lives.
- They find it difficult to achieve academic success and other achievements in their lives.
- They hesitate to participate in activities that are important and meaningful to them.
- Students have difficulty controlling their emotions.
- They think that their sense of belonging to the society they live in is insufficient.
- They do not feel that life has any value or meaning.
- They do not feel like part of positive connections.
- There may be a communication breakdown
- Conflicts may occur.
- Their respect for each other may decrease.

"WHAT MAKES YOUR CULTURE DIFFERENT ?"

- With your own group, divide your culture into there headings.
- These headings will be
"What you like about your culture"and
"What you don't like about your culture"
- Prepare 2-minute presentation with the above titles within 5 minutes on the papers we have provided.
Prepare the above titles within 5 minutes on the papers that we'll give to you.

-What are the main features of culture?

-What's intercultural communication in school?

-What's the importance of intercultural communication in school?

WHAT ARE THE MAIN FEATURES OF CULTURE?

1) Culture is Social

Each generation transfers what it has learned from the previous generations and its contribution to the whole culture to the next generation.

2) Culture is Learned

Culture is acquired through learning and is passed on from generation to generation through social inheritance.

3) Culture is a System of Rules

Culture consists of ideal rules and behaviors adopted by the society. Written and unwritten rules that determine the life of people in society ensure the integrity and continuity of culture.

4) Culture is Integrative

All the created elements of culture have the feature of forming a harmonious and integrated system.

What is the importance of intercultural communication in school?

Cultural tolerance is important in school because if there is no tolerance, conflicts and negativities can arise. People from different cultures are often ostracized and ridiculed, so Intercultural Honesty is very important. more communication is needed to overcome such problems. The main theme of intercultural communication is tolerance, understanding and dialogue. As they cannot get rid of their bias they continue to think in simple patterns, People who look at the world with a bias view through a narrow window can't live at peace. It is clear that they cannot contribute to coexistence in an appropriate way.

CULTURAL PERCEPTIONS

SYMBOL SYSTEMS

What is tolerance in intercultural communication?

People learn the culture in which they were born and grew up, and thanks to society, their communication style emerges. The language in which people express themselves and communicate with others has a significant impact on the way they think and behave. Cultures that don't coexist don't know each other's habits. Misunderstandings are common among people from different cultures and this is quite normal.

Intercultural communication skill is defined as a skill that increases its importance in today's world. There are many different methods to develop intercultural communication skills. It is a quality that people can see many benefits in their daily lives. It is bias here that the ability to intercultural communication can have an impact on our lives. Intercultural communication is not knowing a foreign language or liking different foods, but having knowledge about the concept of culture and being able to interpret them correctly. As with any skill, this skill develops through communication.

THANKS FOR JOINING AND LISTENING US

Turkish Team